In the previous episode 10 of Crazy Podcast, Back with a Bang at Bremen, Vivienne McKee talks about the exciting challenges of having to play in a completely new place after 25 years in Glassalen, and how much everyone are now looking forward to be back on stage at the cool Bremen Teater after a year with no Crazy Christmas - this theatre season the audience gets involved in the production of a Bond film!
In addition, actor Sebastian Harris talks about the very special experience - and very Brittish way - of interacting with an audience he experienced the first time he was in the cast of a Crazy Christmas production.
